

New Jersey's "Do Not Call" has made a significant decrease in the annoying telemarketing calls - usually made at dinner time, and an increase in quality time at home. I wish political campaigns and charitable organizations were also restricted from calling.